Signpedia's mission has five aspects. They are:

- to educate and empower people with a disability to become more confident and independent in their learning and socialisation
- to assist with communication techniques and strategies to foster understanding between Deaf, hard of hearing, non-verbal, and hearing members of our community
- to assist those with disabilities and their families to live a better quality of life with the lessons and techniques developed through Signpedia
- to create a network of community supports and role models and unity within the Deaf community; and
- to ensure the continuity of Auslan for future generations of Deaf children
