

Visual	Dialogue
A young man walks up to a table with a couple of books on it. The top book has a picture of an aeroplane on the front cover. He smiles, picks up the book and opens it. As he starts to read, a puzzled expression appears on his face. He scratches his head and question marks appear above his head.	Man: Huh...? [Signals for attention]
A female translator wearing a Signpedia shirt walks on screen and greets the man. They sign to one another.	Translator: Hello. How are you? Man: Good, thank you. Translator: Can I help you? Man: Yes please. Thank you!
The man and translator are seen at an outdoor table looking at the book and signing to one another. A speech bubble appears in front of the translator with images of an aeroplane; a laptop with boarding passes pictured on the screen; a passport and; a map of the world. The man smiles, gives two thumbs up and a lightbulb appears above his head.	Translator: [Translates the contents of the book into sign language] Man: Perfect! Translator: [Continues translating] Man: Good! Translator: Great! Man: Great!